

AMANDA O'NEAL

Amanda O'Neal has extensive and wide-ranging experience in underwriting. Skilled at negotiating with insurance carriers and facilitating the complex intricacies of getting policies written, Ms. O'Neal succeeds with such an effortless manner that others might think her job is easy – until they learn just how many client cases she works on concurrently. The life insurance policies Ms. O'Neal is responsible for putting in force means she is in constant contact with representatives from major financial institutions.

In addition to being an adroit communicator, underwriting requires an analytical approach and to this Ms. O'Neal is a seasoned veteran. Before joining the Greco Planning Group, Ms. O'Neal built a thriving career as a financial planner with Ameriprise Financial (formerly American Express Financial Advisors).

Ms. O'Neal was raised in South Carolina. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry from Wofford College and earned additional graduate credits from Michigan State University.
